

RUSSIAN PLAN OF REFORM

Yermoloff Said to Have Drawn Constitution.

AUTOCRACY MAINTAINED

But Education to Be Made Compulsory —Condition of Workingman and Peasant to Be Ameliorated.

M. Yermoloff, the Russian minister of agriculture, is stated to have drawn up a scheme for a constitution which while it maintains the principle of autocracy, grants absolute freedom of conscience, creates a chamber "composed of representative and legislative elements," provides for bettering the conditions of workingmen and peasants, and gives greater liberty to the Jews. The labor commission proposed by the czar has been dissolved because the workingmen refused to elect delegates to it. The strikes have been renewed in St. Petersburg and Vilna, but Warsaw is comparatively quiet. There are further threats against the life of Grand Duke Vladimir, in spite of the report that he had been "relieved."

A RUSSIAN REFORM SCHEME.

M. Yermoloff's Plans Include Granting of Absolute Freedom of Conscience.

Paris, March 7.—The Marin says that the following are the principal points in a constitution submitted by Minister of Agriculture Yermoloff to the czar:

The assembling of delegates from all the provincial zemstvos to formulate a constitution, which, while maintaining the autocratic rights and supreme powers of the czar will also aim at satisfying the needs, whether more or less urgent, of the people.

This assembly will not be called the Zemsky Sobor, but will be a chamber composed of representative and legislative elements.

The laws voted by this chamber will have to receive the sanction of the czar before coming into force.

The budget of the imperial house and the acts of the emperor or members of his family must not form the subject of debate in the chamber.

The question of liberty of the press will be definitely examined, as well as that of the abolition of the censorship.

The regulation of the duties and rights of students.

The opening of a school in every village, and compulsory education.

The expense of maintaining these schools, which has hitherto been borne by the people alone, will be shared between the people and other classes.

A reduction of the taxes which have encumbered land property.

Assistance to peasants to enable them to acquire land, and a reduction of certain direct and indirect taxes.

Laws to ameliorate the lot of workmen; insurance for workmen in case of accident, and a superannuation fund for workmen who had suffered in following their calling.

Inspectors to be commissioned to investigate several times a year the condition of workmen.

Schools for workmen's children, to be maintained at the expense of employers.

Permission for Jews to follow any trade, and to live without restriction in any part of Russia.

Jews to be admitted more freely to the higher schools, and Jews, Poles, Finns, and Armenians to have their rights, without regard to nationality or religion.

Exiles to be brought back by administrative means.

Absolute liberty of conscience. The opening of chapels and synagogues and the free practice of any form of worship.

The organization of medical attendance for the poor and an increase in the number of hospitals.

NO COMMISSION.

Workmen Would Not Elect Men to Represent Them.

St. Petersburg, March 8.—The Shidlovski commission, appointed to ascertain the causes of discontent among the working people of St. Petersburg, has been dissolved by order of the Emperor. An official communication explains that this action is due to the impossibility of proceeding with the proposed plan in consequence of the refusal of the workmen to elect representatives to the commission.

The minister of ways and communications has directed the employees in the workshops of the state railways to elect representatives to present their needs to the managers of the shops.

A LETTER TO MOTHERS

All Barre Women Should Be Interested.

Mrs. Charles Perry of Glen Falls, N. Y., writes: "I wish I could induce every mother who has a weak, sickly child to try that delicious cod liver oil preparation, Vinol. We were so worried about our little daughter—she had lost flesh, was thin, pale and sickly, and nothing seemed to do her any good. Having heard of Vinol we decided to try it, and the results were marvellous. Her appetite has been restored and she is gaining in weight right along, the color has returned to her cheeks and she seems stronger than she has for years."

Every mother in Barre is asked to try Vinol on our guarantee to make children robust, strong and healthy or return money if it fails. Vinol is a pure cod liver oil preparation, but without a drop of oil to upset the stomach and retard its work. It is delicious to the taste and children love it. It does not taste, nor look, nor smell like a cod liver preparation—yet it is.

We have never sold anything in our store equal to Vinol to create strength for old people, weak, sickly women and children. Rickert & Wells, Druggists.

CAR TOPPLES OVER

IN THE AIR.

Forty Passengers Were Injured in Accident on the Chicago Elevated Road.

Chicago, March 8.—Overturning high in the air, on the Lake street elevated railroad yesterday, a passenger coach with eighty persons aboard escaped being dashed to the granite pavement below.

One woman was pinned on the tracks within a few inches of the deadly third rail, and though finally extricated alive, is fatally injured.

Forty other passengers were injured, but not seriously.

HARDWARE MEN TO ADVERTISE.

From an Address Before the Iowa Hardware Men's Convention.

"If I were asked to specify some one thing that Iowa retail hardware dealers need to do more than anything else in pushing their business, I would say, 'Do more advertising.'"

That was the statement of Thomas Nichols, a prominent hardware dealer of Burlington, Ia.

"Hardware men do not give enough publicity to their business. There is no reason in the world why a department store should tell the public about its goods and its special bargain and a hardware dealer refrain from doing it."

It is a profitable policy for the department store, and it would likewise be profitable for the hardware dealer. I know it, because I have tried it in Burlington. Advertising has brought results, and I do not see how I could get along without advertising.

One great trouble with hardware men who try advertising is that they are not persistent and faithful enough in carrying on their campaign. They do it spasmodically, without any definite aim in view; they put in an advertisement now and let it stand weeks, and even months, without changing it; they insert an advertisement in a haphazard way, and write it in a still more haphazard way. It isn't strange that results do not come under such circumstances. If a regular campaign is adopted and then followed month after month, it will bring results. It may cost considerable, but it will bring more than enough business to justify the outlay."

NEW SUN SPOT DISCOVERED.

Some Disturbance Near, Predicts a Toledo Professor.

Toledo, O., March 8.—Rev. F. J. Hillig, professor of astronomy at St. John's college, this city, has discovered a large sun spot, or what is really a group of spots, in the upper left quadrant of the sun. The spot is visible with the naked eye. Professor Hillig predicted some magnetic or atmospheric disturbance in the near future as a result.

Roosevelt's Influence in Russia.

A Paris letter to the New York Independent contains the following:

If I have been well informed by my St. Petersburg correspondents, Father Gapon has taken as his guide in more ways than one the bold and healthy teachings of President Roosevelt, "the strenuous life" being one of the things he is continually preaching to the apathetic Russian peasant and workman who suffer themselves to be "driven about like sheep by the whips of the brutal Cossacks," as he wrote on one occasion in a private letter to an old friend of mine. Roosevelt's two books, "The Strenuous Life" and "American Ideals," which have appeared here in French during the last year or so, have found their way into Russia, with warm welcome, I am told.

THE CHADWICK DEALS SECRET

Were Not Reported to the Directors by Cashier.

SEVERAL OFFICERS TESTIFY

Statements as to Respondent's Money
—She Made Large Deposits in Several Institutions.

Cleveland, March 8.—Mrs. Cassie Chadwick came into court none the worse for her illness, which caused the adjournment Monday. She wore the same gown of black and white as on her first appearance, but had added a long gray veil, which covered her face and was wound in repeated folds about her neck.

Andrew Carnegie was not in court yesterday morning.

E. H. Holter of Oberlin, who was on the stand Monday, was called again as soon as the court opened. He was a director of the Citizens' National Bank of Oberlin, and gave evidence covering the meetings of the bank. He said he knew nothing of Mrs. Chadwick's transactions until Nov. 27, 1904.

C. P. Doolittle, an instructor in Oberlin College, and also a director of the bank testified that he never knew of dealings of the bank with Mrs. Chadwick until the day before the bank closed. None of the Chadwick deals were ever reported by Cashier Spear to the directors.

DESERT IS A VAST SEA.

Cacoroda Phenomenon of Few Years Ago Reappears.

San Francisco, Cal., March 8.—The "salton sea" phenomenon in Colorado, which caused so much talk a few years ago, has reappeared and there is once more a vast "sea" on the Colorado desert. This time the men who are engaged in engineering on the work of bringing the waters of Colorado river to a colony are blamed for the inundation.

The Colorado river, which is very high, has simply backed up in canals and in a new river and thus forced its way into the heart of the desert, which is 300 feet below the sea level.

In Arizona, where there was never known to be any water, great lakes have been formed, and the presence of this water is said to have changed the climate considerably. These lakes prove of value in irrigating. Since the appearance of these waters there have come into existence vast fields of grass, which proves that the soil under irrigation would be capable of supporting crops.

A. M. PALMER DEAD.

Well Known Theatrical Manager Dies of Apoplexy.

New York, March 8.—A. M. Palmer, the theatrical manager, who suffered a stroke of apoplexy on an elevated train yesterday afternoon, died at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the J. Hood Wright Hospital, where he was removed.

Mr. Palmer was born in Stamford, Ct., and was the son of a Baptist minister.

His fame as a theatrical manager was made when he took the management of the Madison Square Theatre. He later took hold of Wallack's and changed the name to Palmer's. His fortunes took a downward trend then, and he was in financial troubles for several years. Charles Frohman made him manager of the Herald Square Theatre two years ago.

HORROR IN KANSAS.

Wife and Three Little Ones Killed; Husband Suspected.

Danville, Ark., March 8.—At Whitely, about 12 miles from Danville, the wife and three children of James Ince, a farmer, have been murdered. Ince is held in jail on suspicion.

COSTS NOTHING TO TRY

Seven Barks.

Local Druggists Guarantee Its Efficacy or Make No Charge.

We want everybody suffering from any disorder of the Stomach, Bowels or Liver to get a full-size bottle of "Seven Barks," the great German stomach and liver regulator. As an evidence of good faith, we ask a deposit of 50 cents, but if after taking according to directions, the remedy does not accomplish all that is claimed, return the empty or partly used bottle and your money will be cheerfully handed back.

We could not afford to make a guarantee of this kind were we not positive of our position. "Seven Barks" is not an untried remedy. It has been on the market for thirty-five years with astonishing success.

"Clean, N. Y., June 7, 1904.

"Dear Sir:—I have just finished a bottle of your 'Seven Barks' with marvelous results. It is equal as a reconstructor and blood purifier was unknown to me. I have derived wonderful benefit from the use of this medicine. You are at liberty to use this testimony as a God-send to suffering humanity. Very truly yours, (Signed) W. N. Carter."

There is no remedy on earth that keeps its friends longer than "Seven Barks." There are thousands of American families never without a bottle, nor have they been without for twenty years. Grandmothers, mothers and children are all enthusiastic in their praise. Don't forget to use this remedy. You will not regret it.

FOUND ONLY POISON SIGNS.

Doctor So Testifies at the Stanford Inquest.

Honolulu, March 8.—At a coroner's inquest into the death of Mrs. Jane L. Stanford, Dr. C. B. Wood, one of the autopsy physicians, has testified that the symptoms found by him and other physicians indicated that strychnine poisoning was the cause of Mrs. Stanford's death. The different organs, he said, failed to show any sufficient cause for death from disease.

The inquest was held at the Monna Hotel, where Mrs. Stanford died. The first witness examined by the coroner's jury was Miss Berner, Mrs. Stanford's secretary, who testified that Mrs. Stanford had left San Francisco on the advice of her brother, her physician and her attorney. Miss Berner told of the scene in the death chamber. Attorney General Andrews questioned Miss Berner regarding the bottle of bicarbonate of soda. The witness said it was Mrs. Stanford's custom to take the soda occasionally, and added: "No one knew of this custom, so far as I am aware, but myself, May Hunt and Nora Hopkins, an employee at the Stanford residence."

Questioned by Deputy High Sheriff Rawlins with regard to the possibility of Mrs. Stanford's having committed suicide, Miss Berner expressed pity for anyone who could be driven to such a conclusion. "Mrs. Stanford," she said, "on a few occasions said she hoped some day to rejoin her son and husband, to whose memory she was always devoted, but this was not a frequent topic of conversation with her."

San Francisco, March 8.—The Call publishes a despatch from Honolulu which says that the reason for the failure of the chemists to make their report last night of the analysis of Mrs. Stanford's stomach was the discovery that the cascaris capsules, one of which Mrs. Stanford took at the same time she took the bicarbonate of soda on the night of her death, also contained strychnine. These capsules were kept by Miss Berner, who, when questioned about them, explained that they were prescribed many years ago by a San Francisco physician. She had had the prescription filled over and over again. One of the component parts of the capsules was poison.

FAD IN CHICAGO SOCIETY.

Millionaire Clubman Introduced Chinese Dance at a Reception.

James MacVeagh, man of fashion, clubman and cotton leader, has introduced a new fad for society's diversion this winter, says the Chicago Inter Ocean. At a reception at his home on the Lake Shore drive he danced a Chinese pantomime that has set north shore society people talking.

As a fancy dancer and lightning change artist, so accurately representing an oriental as to defy recognition, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin MacVeagh amused, entertained and instructed his mother's guests.

In one of the national descriptive dances he was assisted by his instructor, Dr. Yamell Kib, a Chinese woman who is a guest at the MacVeagh home. And now James is the social hero of the hour. His friends are talking of nothing else, and the debutantes who were present declare that in grace he rivals Faversham and Hackett, not to mention Sothern.

The dance was very stately and descriptive, representing the farewell of a young Chinese soldier to his sweetheart. The dancer demonstrated with a heavy sword the deeds of courage which he would perform before returning to claim her, and she, with a pretty fan, would beg him to be merciful rather than cruel.

The costume which disguised MacVeagh, it is said, beyond recognition for a time was a long gown of the intense blue peculiar to the dyes of the orient, combined with yellow. The home in the drive is spacious and luxurious, and the settings for the dance were not out of keeping with the splendor of the oriental costumes. Mrs. MacVeagh's friends were delighted. Not for twenty minutes were the guests undecieved, and then only at the young millionaire's call for "air."

"Has that got out?" laughed young MacVeagh when asked about the dancing which has made him famous. "Why, there isn't much to tell. A Chinese woman is visiting my mother, and once before when she was stopping at our country place in New Hampshire she taught me some of the characteristic dances. Then when I was abroad later I picked up the costume for fancy dress parties."

"The dancing was proposed at the reception the other day, and so we went through the soldier's farewell, which is a very stately pantomime. Dr. Yamell Kib of course took the opposite part. She is a mistress of the art. Her own dance, the Japanese prayer blossom, really was the success of the afternoon."

MacVeagh was introduced to the party by Hip Si Wau Lung, a professional artist from Canton.

SHAW LOOKING FORWARD TO '08

This Reason for His Plan for Retirement.

WILL MAKE CAMPAIGN

For Presidential Nomination—A Fairbanks Room Also to Be Started—Cortelyou a Possibility.

Washington, March 8.—Secretary Shaw's retirement next February, which has been officially announced, will be the signal for the opening of the Shaw presidential boom. His recognition of the propriety of making an aggressive, though quiet, campaign for the nomination, while a leading member of the present administration, who would prefer not to be identified with any movement towards the selection of a successor, doubtless had more than anything to do with his real determination to retire. He will then be free. It is probable that he will first visit Europe, and after his return take up his home at Denison, Ia., where he will respond for the next two years to frequent invitations to speak at chamber of commerce banquets and academic gatherings. Mr. Shaw is an effective speaker, and will in this way be kept before the public.

Vice President Fairbank's friends are already hard at work. Both these candidates are prominent in the Methodist church, which may occasion some division in the support which its members might otherwise give.

Chairman Cortelyou's announced purpose to retire from the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee is also significant. He may figure in the presidential race, although at this stage, less clearly a candidate than the others.

CORTELYOU AT HEAD OF POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT

Is Sworn In Yesterday Forenoon and at Once Assumed the Duties of the Office.

Washington, D. C., March 8.—George B. Cortelyou took the oath as postmaster-general yesterday. It was administered by the veteran clerk and notary, T. N. Poach, who was a co-laborer with Mr. Cortelyou who he was a stenographer in the office of the fourth assistant postmaster-general. The ceremony occurred in the office of the postmaster-general in the presence of the retiring head of the department, Robert J. Wynne. Mrs. Cortelyou, her two daughters, Grace and Helen, and Miss Hinds, sister of Mrs. Cortelyou, also were present, as were all of the assistants and heads of bureaux of the department. Mr. Cortelyou at once assumed the duties of his office.

Postmaster-General Cortelyou announced that Frank H. Hitchcock of Massachusetts had been selected for first assistant postmaster-general. His nomination probably will go to the Senate today or tomorrow.

A statement authorized by Postmaster-General Cortelyou announced that upon assuming his new duties he would retire from the chairmanship of the Republican national committee.

Harry S. New of Indianapolis will probably be selected as acting chairman.

A SHORT OPEN SESSION.

The Senate Takes Up Executive Business.

Washington, March 7.—The open session of the Senate today continued for only eight minutes. The Vice President, presided, the chaplain offered prayer, and Mrs. Hanabrough presented a resolution providing for the amendment of the Senate rules so as to permit senators to hand petitions and private bills to the secretary of the Senate instead of introducing them in the present formal manner. Then, at 12:05 p. m., the Senate went into executive session. In his opening prayer, Chaplain Hale remembered the senators who failed of re-election.

State Investigation Committee to Meet at Waterbury March 14.

Morrisville, March 8.—At the next sitting of the state commission appointed to investigate the state hospital for the insane to be held at Waterbury next Tuesday, it is expected that the testimony of one Orrice Ballard of Georgia, and Mrs. Berry, a former matron of the hospital, will be taken.

Several persons who have expressed a willingness to testify in the case may also be heard. Commissioner C. H. A. Stafford is of the opinion that this will be the last sitting of the commission for the hearing of witnesses.

The J. C. Ayer Co. Will Print

Formulas of Medicines on Bottle

Having heard that the J. C. Ayer company had decided to give to the public the complete formula of each of its medicines, we interviewed the treasurer and general manager, Dr. Charles H. Stowell, in order to ascertain if it was true. Dr. Stowell said that it certainly was true, and that it was simply the conclusion of a plan which he had been working upon for a long time.

When asked what effect it would have upon the proprietary medicine business if all houses were obliged to publish their formulas, he said, in his opinion, it would favorably affect the sale of all those medicines founded upon merit, all those preparations that were genuine medicines. On the other hand, he believed just as strongly that it would mean the complete ruin of frauds, fakes, and swindles.

"It is a well-known fact that the public is being swindled out of hundreds of thousands, even millions of dollars each year, because of wildly exaggerated and positively untruthful statements, glaringly displayed by the J. C. Ayer company has nothing to hide. We simply take the public into our confidence and frankly tell them just what they are getting for their money. That is all there is about it."

Concerning the great agitation which has been raised in certain quarters because some of these medicines contain alcohol, Dr. Stowell said: "Just use a little common sense and figure it out for yourself. The formula which will soon appear on each bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla will show that the person gets about ten minims of alcohol in each teaspoonful of the medicine, which is the ordinary dose. Now in a glass of beer (which is the ordinary dose) there are about two hundred minims of alcohol. In other words, one dose of beer contains twenty times as much alcohol as one dose of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. But let us carry this analysis a little further: You would have to drink about half a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to get as much alcohol as is found in an ordinary 'schmeer' of beer. The Sarsaparilla would cost the man nearly half a dollar, while the beer would cost him only five cents. We have yet to hear of any person who ever acquired a love for the is, it is a medicine, a positive medicine, and has the taste of a medicine. But soon acquired. In view of this, can you imagine anything more perfectly ridiculous than all of this terrible cry about the alcohol in this medicine? And then we know very well that the alcohol is used, must be used, to extract the various medicinal ingredients from the roots, barks, etc., which form an important part of this medicine. It is not added simply because of any stimulating effect it may have of itself."

We are informed that this is the first medicine business that the formulas have and the outcome will be watched with intense interest. Lowell Sun, Feb. 22, '05.

ORRINE CURES WHISKEY AND BEER HABIT.

Orrine removes the craving for whiskey, beer or other alcoholic stimulants. The patient soon loses all desire for drink; his nervous system, which was formerly a wreck, is soon restored to its normal condition
